Art Unit: 1621

Claims 1-8 are pending in this application which should be reviewed for errors. In response to the requirement for the election of a single disclosed species, applicants elected without traverse, the species of compound 16 in table 1. Applicants' compounds wherein R2 is acid or ester are examined therewith with all other compounds held withdrawn. Applicants are queried as to the meaning of X being in the alpha or beta substitution.

Claims 4-8 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim dependent on multiple dependent claims. See MPEP § 608.01(n).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combined teaching of Sato et al., EP 1 211 242, and Sato et al., JP 2001-151749. Sato et al. '242 disclose sleep inducing prostaglandin derivatives given by their formula I wherein A may be  $S(O)_p(CH_2)_n$ , and further disclose close compounds such as compound 21 on page 9. Sato et al. '749 disclose sleep inducing prostaglandin derivatives of formula I where Z may be ethylene, vinylene, or ethynylene and further disclose compounds such as 59 and 60 having Z as ethynylene. The compounds of Sato et al., '242, differ from those of applicants in not having an ethynylene moiety acid or ester containing chain. Sato et al. '749 differ in not having a methylene moiety between the sulfur and cyclopentyl ring. It would have been prima facie obvious at the time the invention was made to one of ordinary skill in the art to start with the the teaching of the cited references, to make applicants' compounds and to expect them to be useful as sleep inducers. It would have been obvious to modify the teaching of Sato et al. '242 to include an ethynylene group in view of the equivalency of saturation to unsaturation taught by Sato et al. '749. Conversely, it would have been obvious to include a methylene moiety in between the cyclopentyl ring and the sulfur in the compounds of Sato et al. '749 by comparison with the compounds of Sato et al. '242.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir.

1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-8 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of copending Application No. 10/493,693. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they generically overlap.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

No claim is allowed.
